A TEMPORARY WEEPING HILL?

Chestnut Street residents have "no one else but themselves to blame" - Burlington official

Dick Brown, executive secretary for the Burlington Board of Selectmen, last Thursday indicated that the water from Weeping Hill, in South Wilmington is of a temporary nature, because of the high water table this year.

He also went on to imply that the residents of the Chestnut Street area of Wilmington, abutting Weeping Hill have nobody to blame but themselves for the water seeping into their basements.

(It was quite evident that Mr. Brown either was not aware of the stories in the Town Crier, or was ignoring them completely. Ed.)

But Brown also said that engineers are trying to find some way of stopping the leaks before cold weather sets in. That would prevent a major ice problem where the water is now running across Chestnut Street.

"That area has always been wet, swampy, and marshy," Brown said in an interview with a Town Crier reporter in his office in Burlington's Town Hall. He was referring to Burlington's reservoir and the so-called Weeping Hill across Chestnut Street at the town line.

"Besides that, this is the wettest year we've had in the past 25 years," he said. The high water table in the area makes it "inevitable" that water is going to seep into backyards and basements.

And, Brown said, "there are a lot of subterranean streams running through the hill. When you put in a cement basement, some of the streams get dammed up and that causes water to come out of the top of the hill" then it runs downhill and seeps into basements in its path.

Brown said that the problem of water seepage was new because the houses with such problems have been built only in the past couple of years.

Brown also said that engineers had examined the reservoir closely and concluded that the steady streams of water running close to the reservoir were coming from Weeping Hill and not the reservoir itself.

"We're very concerned about this problem. I hope the engineers can get it solved before winter. The road (Chestnut Street) is settling and it's a mess."

Brown said he had toured the area and looked into two of the basements where water was seeping in. "It's just a wet area," he said, tilting back in the chair in his office.

Although he did not mention it outright, the possibility of a suit by wet Wilmington residents was on his mind.

"We are moving very slowly in this matter so that we can determine what our liability is. We don't want to rush right into it."

Tilting back in the chair in his office, Brown said, "There was a pond there before the reservoir was built. As a boy, I used to go swimming in that pond.

"There are several springs right around there too. I've lived in that area all my life. I'ts just a generally wet area."

Wilmington Conservation Officials on the sniff

Officials of the Wilmington Conservation Commission are on the sniff. They are searching out the source of some odors, objectionable, starting apparently near Lubbers Brook.

During the past three days there have been complaints to both the Wilmington Board of Health and to the Town Crier. The odor, it is said, is that of a sewer, in Lubbers Brook and in the Ipswich River.

Members of the Conservation Commission, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ursula Leahy have been following the odor, using their noses. They visit Lubbers Brook, street by street on the way up stream, and take a deep breath. Sometimes two.

So far they have got as far as Frederick Drive, and have still detected the odor. A trip to the brook, near the Glen Road School failed to produce any olefactory results.

Ernest Romano, Wilmington sanitarian has been in conversation with the State Board of Health, and others, concerning possible pollution. Samples were collected along the brook yesterday, to send to the State Board of Health.

Mr. Romano told the Town Crier that the odors may be coming from the new industrial park in North Woburn, where in former years there was a leather industry. From time to time buried hides are uncovered, in the process of work there, and the odor frequently is to be detected in Wilmington. The Woburn Board of Health, he added, is aware of that problem.

Wilmington already has Chapter 91, Section 29

Article 4 of the Special Town Meeting of June 25 asked that the town of Wilmington adopt Section 29, of Chapter 91 of the General Laws of Massachusetts. The voters of Wilmington refused to.

The law which the town was asked to adopt has to do with Public Works, by the Commonwealth, within any political subdivision (i.e. town or city). A town or city which does adopt this law may get assistance on water control, from the Commonwealth.

The law didn't have much of a chance to be adopted, in that special town meeting. It was a complicated bit of phraseology, describing tidal and non-tidal rivers, and adding phrases about the Connecticut and Merrimack Rivers. It was enough to put confusion into the mind of any voter. Merrimack River? Connecticut River? What has that to do with Wilmington?

Perhaps if there had been an adequate explanation beforehand. As it was the Town Manager spoke for it. and Rep. Fred Cain spoke for it, as well as a few other persons including the Acting Town Engineer, explaining that the town would be getting money to take care of problems where Mill Brook crosses Main Street, - at the site of Louie's Oil garage.

But the town voted No. It seemed that it was not going to get any of the DPW money for dredging, etc. at Mill Brook.

Chapter II

Two years ago Rep. Cain had Malcolm Graf out to Wilmington to inspect the water problems for the newly planned Route 129 cut-off, or some similar problem. Just why Mr. Graf was here is not important for this story, except that he was making an inspection, and while he was here, Mr. Cain and others prevailed upon him to look at Mill Brook, where it crosses under the Lowell tracks of the Boston & Maine, and under Main Street. Over the years there have been changes in contours, and a little expert advice - free - was not to be turned down.

Mr. Graf is one of the Commissioners of the Department of Public Works for Massachusetts. He is the man who is the deciding factor on care and upkeep of waterways, in the Commonwealth.

Graf looked at the old Mill Brook, as it went under the railroad, as it went under Main Street, and down to the so-called Wildcat Railroad, more properly the Lawrence Branch of the Boston & Maine.

There was need, he said, of new and bigger culverts, and of dredging. Otherwise there would some day be a real flood.

That was enough for Mr. Cain. He looked around, and found $160,000 in an old account that had not been used - an account for flood control. He wanted to get that money transferred, so that it could be used to prevent floods in Wilmington. But first the town must adopt the law affecting work by the DPW on waterways - Chapter 91, Section 29.

But the Town Meeting, suspicious, refused to adopt the law.

Chapter III

Mrs. Madelyn McKie is the lady one sees sitting with the Finance Committee, in Wilmington's town meetings. She is not only on the Finance Committee, she is Wilmington's representative on the Metropolitan Area Planning Council.

On her own, recently, Mrs. McKie began an investigation into a subject dear to some taxpayers hearts - how much money has the town lost, by not being aware of all the federal and state grants available? She began an investigation, by book and verse.

She finally came to the provisions of Section 29 of Chapter 91. Had Wilmington ever received monies from this? The answer was No.

But Wilmington had adopted the act. It was done in a town meeting in 1962, and the record is to be seen in the annual report of that year, on Page 103. Wilmington can receive monies, under this law.

Now the next move is up to Mr. Cain.

Miceli's visit to Burlington Selectmen

Selectman James Miceli of Wilmington a week ago Monday reported to the Wilmington board on his visit to Boston to discuss a possible MBTA terminal at the Wilmington-Reading line. The report was received with very little comment by the Wilmington selectmen.

That same night, and without saying anything to any board member, Mr. Miceli went to the Burlington Board of Selectmen, to discuss the problem of the Burlington dam. No Wilmington selectman was aware of this action, other than Miceli, until they read in the Lowell Sun on Tuesday that Mr. Miceli had asked for and received the privilege of an executive session with the Burlington board.

The Daily Times, Burlington, on Tuesday (July 10) had a story which occupied the front page, on the Miceli visit. The heading read:

Miceli's Independent Action Irks Wilmington Selectmen

BURLINGTON - James Banda, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen in Wilmington, said today that Wilmington Selectman James Miceli's visit with the Board of Selectmen last Monday was not as a representative of the Wilmington Board.

He added that he was 'quite disturbed,' to read press reports of the meeting which indicated that Miceli was a representative of the Wilmington Board.

Miceli appeared at last Monday's Board of Selectmen's meeting and asked for a meeting in executive session with the Burlington Board.

The request was granted and Miceli and the local board discussed a report from Whitman and Howard Engineers on the status of the water 'problem' surrounding the new reservoir.

Banda added yesterday that the Wilmington Board has not taken any position on the reservoir problem and added that his board had not even had any official communication from the local Selectmen.

He added, "Mr. Miceli was not authorized in any way to meet with the Burlington board and he was acting only as an individual not as a representative of this Board."

Although the local Selectmen discussed the Whitman and Howard Report with the Wilmington Selectmen they have stated previously that they will not release the report to the public.

Chairman of the Board Robert Roberto, said at a recent meeting that since the Town could be involved in a court case later the report would not immediately be made public.

When pressed on the issue the Selectmen added that the report would probably not be released in its entirety in the near future.

Reportedly the document is favorable to the Town and lifts some of the liability from the local board.

There has been some criticism of the Board of Selectmen for allowing Whitman and Howard to undertake a report on a project which they constructed for the Town.

Reportedly the Selectmen are considering the possibility of hiring another firm to independently evaluate the situation.

Residents of Woburn and Wilmington have complained that the new reservoir has caused considerable problems in the area.

City Engineer Thomas Mernin of Woburn has supplied several homes on Winter St. with pumps to help alleviate the problem but there has been no action to permanently alleviate the problem.

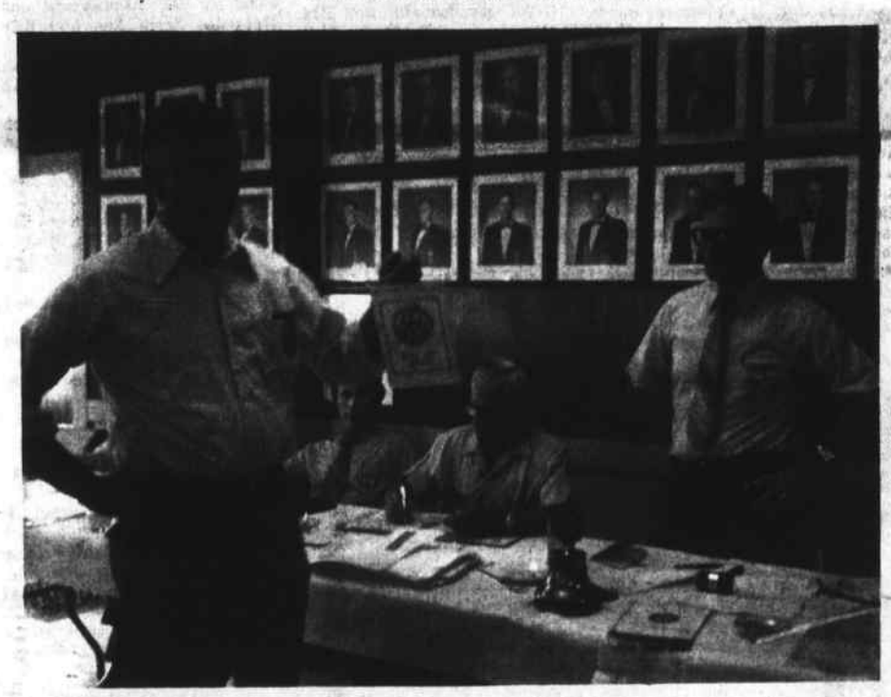

In Wilmington officials have claimed that leakage from the new lake is undermining a road as well as causing flooding to adjacent homes.

In a preliminary report issued several months ago, Whitman and Howard recommended that up to $20,000 might have to be spent to alleviate the situation.

Whitman and Howard indicated then that part of the problem in Wilmington existed before the new lake was filled and that the unusually heavy rains had created more of a problem because of the existing drainage conditions.

They did indicate that more testing on the wall and floor of the reservoir was necessary before any conclusive results could be obtained.

The results of those tests are in the report which the Selectmen discussed with the Wilmington Selectmen, but would not release to the Daily Times.

ROTARY FLAG FROM SWEDEN: At the Wilmington Rotary luncheon yesterday the club was presented with flags of three Rotary clubs, in Sweden, by Past President Ralph Swanson, of Raffi & Swanson, who had just returned from a three week trip to that country.
New Rotary president Ray York (right) received the flags.

GO TO COURT

There is a fairly new law which is designed to protect the small man against pollution. It allows any 10 citizens to bring suit in court against any company, corporation, or private citizen who is causing a pollution problem. The law is so new that when any suit is brought under its provisions it immediately becomes a headline case.

There are eight or ten homes off Chestnut Street in South Wilmington which are being polluted now by waters from the new Burlington reservoir. In nearby Woburn are at lease half a dozen more. And, in addition, Chestnut Street has a constant flow of water across it from Weeping Hill.

The fault, basically, is not the new dam, but rather the rock into which the dam is anchored. Water goes through that rock, perhaps through unsuspected cracks, and emerges on top of Weeping Hill, from which it floods out the yards of Wilmington residents.

The reported re-action of Burlington selectmen is interesting. They are quoted as saying (1) there has been a heavy rain this summer, and (2) only a few new homes are affected.

Possibly someone isn't telling the whole story to the Burlington selectmen. It could be pointed out that the Holland home and the two Rooney homes, to name a few, have been in the area for upwards of a quarter of a century, and one of the Rooney homes is getting about 10,000 gallons of water a day, which is an awful amount of rainfall.

Wilmington's Town Manager about six or eight weeks ago indicated that he was willing to give the Burlington selectmen a little time to look over the problem, and provide an answer. Those Burlington selectmen have now had that time. They are not, it seems, interested in providing an answer.

Let the afflicted families of Wilmington and Woburn get themselves a good corporation lawyer, and take the Burlington selectmen to court. It must be done soon, and it can be done under the 10 citizens law referred to above.

Perhaps then an answer will be provided - before the winter turns everything into a mass of ice.

What's New for children at the Wilmington Library

The Children's Room at the Wilmington Memorial Library is a busy place this summer with children of all ages looking for books to read and things to do.

The bulletin boards are covered with reviews of new books waiting to be checked out or reserved (Charlie and the Great Glass Elevator, for instance) and the ends of the book stacks are white with shelf paper now being covered by colorful, signed "mini-reviews" - one word comments by children on summer books read and recommended to others.. Some popular new titles for older readers include "Diney Hocker Shoots Smack," "Me and Fat Glenda," "The Hodge Podge Book'," "The Strange Affair of Adelaide Harris," and "Werewolves and Other Monsters."

Slightly younger reviewers applaude "Alexander and the Terrible, Horrible," "No Good, Very Bad Day," "Shadow The Cigar Smoking Cat," and "No Kiss for Mother." Beautiful new picture books abound.

The collection of puzzles, and games available for use in the library has recently been added to, so that now Scrabble and Checkers are threatening to give the ever popular Chess some competition.

New magazines subscribed to include "Hot Rod" and "Model Airplane News" as well as the Massachusetts Audubon Society's "The Curious Naturalist" and "Zoonooz," a colorful monthly about all kinds of animals published by the San Diego Zoo. All magazines - except the latest issues may go out for one week.

The small collection of cassette tapes continues to be much used, with "Dracula," "Frankenstein," and "Heidi" equally popular. Unfortunately the library's cassette players are temporarily out of order so that all tapes must be played at home.

A new assortment of records has arrived and gone right out, but there's always something interesting in the record bin to take home and play.

Every Monday from 2 to 3 pm, Mrs. Rueter reads stories aloud to youngsters in the first through the third grade. One chapter from "Winnie-the-Pooh" is read each week along with books new and old selected by the children.

Pre-school youngsters ages four to six come once a week for Story Hour conducted by Mrs. Arlene Ten Dyke. This week nearly one hundred happy children made thumbprint owls using ink pads and their fingers. The results were artistic on paper and a bit smudgy on the hands, but no one minded about that.

June's Camping Program was a great success and it is hoped that many more children will be able to take part in the Japanese program planned for next Thursday.

There has been such response to the idea of the Library's sponsoring the University of New Hampshire's "Little Red Wagon" theater group in August that plans have been made to hold the performance on the town common instead of at the Library. Details on the August program will be made public in a few weeks.

Little League Day Sunday

Next Sunday is to be Wilmington Little League Day, at Rotary Park. There will be four all-star games, starting at 1 pm, involving mothers, fathers and managers of the various teams.

The schedule of games will be found listed in the sports section, on Page 8.

The annual raffle drawing will take place at 3 pm at the park. The schedule calls for two games, the drawing, and then two more games.

Wilmington LWV to study school space needs

The League of Women Voters of Wilmington is undertaking a study of the School Space needs in Wilmington in anticipation of a special town meeting this fall to consider approval of a bond issue for a new high school. The League feels that a great deal of information must be gathered, to help make a wise decision on the issue.

The ladies say they feel that there are many questions that should be answered, and they are certain that many Wilmington citizens also have the same concerns. The ladies wish to know what the Wilmington citizens would like to know before they vote on a bond issue. What information would help the voter to make the best decision?

The League wants to hear. Please call them at 658-6381 or 658-5579.

The cure was almost as bad as the bite

A public hearing is to be heard in August, by the Wilmington Planning Board, on a revision of the plans for the Jackson Brothers current project in North Wilmington, northerly of Dorothy Avenue.

The original plan, which was approved by the Planning Board, called for an extension of Arlene Avenue, northerly and around to the west, to end a short distance north of Dorothy Avenue, on the westerly side of the project. From there a connecting road would be built around, to meet Dorothy Avenue at Barbara Avenue.

Between the two sides of Arlene Avenue were to be two streets, Ella Ave. and Franklin Ave. The entire plan, involving about 60 homes, could be compared to the shape of an old fashioned bee-hive, with Arlene Avenue giving the plan its shape.

Last spring the Jackson Brothers reported a difficulty. Where the connecting road was to be built, it turned out, was not a shallow swamp, but a deep hole. There was no bottom, at twenty feet.

Tuesday night the problem was again discussed with the Planning Board, with well over a dozen residents of Dorothy Avenue in attendance. The Jackson Brothers had been trying to buy a couple of homes on Dorothy Avenue to make a new road. The residents of Dorothy Avenue were there to protest. They did not want traffic on their street.

Ken Miller, engineer, told the Planning Board that the original cost of going around to the west of Dorothy Avenue was estimated at $70,000. Now, to fill the hole, etc. the cost would be nearly $300 thousand. If, instead, a road were to be cut through to Dorothy Ave. the cost would be (net) $110 thousand. The plan was for a fifty foot Right of Way between two of the homes on Dorothy Avenue, with the approval of the Wilmington Board of Appeals.

After listening to the discussions acting chairman Bob Leahy declared that the Jackson Brothers would just be creating another problem, in trying to get a second roadway out of the area of the new project.

Fred Jackson, of the Jackson Brothers, told the Planning Board that they could widen Arlene Avenue, between Dorothy Avenue and Ella Avenue, so as to provide a better safety factor in traffic and access.

It was pointed out by the acting Town Engineer, John Majeski, that Gowing Road (off Park Street) serves a larger area than the Jackson Development, on a single road. Informally, after this statement, the Planning Board agreed to listen to proposals to use only Arlene Avenue for access into the new development.

A date for a public hearing will be set later.

Jimmy Melzar's House

Jimmy Melzar, former Wilmington baseball star (there's always a Melzar at shortstop), and now a teacher in the Wilmington public schools, is building a home on Lake Street, on land acquired from his uncle, Harold Melzar, former Wilmington Town Manager.

The land has frontage on Lake Street both in Wilmington and Tewksbury, and because of that Mr. Melzar had to acquire more than the usual amount of frontage. He has a total of 170 feet, 100 feet of which is in Wilmington.

Melzar had his plan signed by the Wilmington Planning Board Tuesday night. The Tewksbury Planning Board had signed it Monday. He told the Wilmington board that he has had more than his share of difficulties because his land is in two towns - satisfying the health boards of Wilmington and Tewksbury, etc. etc.

The foundation for the new home is in, and presumbaly Jimmy Melzar will be moving into his new home this fall. He now makes his home in Woburn.

School Committee meets tonight

The Wilmington School Committee will hold its regular meeting, Thursday, July 12th at 8 pm in the conference room, 159 Church Street.

The School Committee will approve new textbook adoptions in Shop Math and a Student Manual for the Dietetics Program. The Committee will also receive an end of the year report from the Coordinator of Student Activities, and they will consider aprior request for use of the Boutwell School as a possible classroom site in conjunction with a prison release program.

The Committee will consider a new policy on graduation, course requirements, and early college admission; they will also appoint new teachers for the 1973-74 school year.

Mini Bike Violations

Several recent violations of the law, with regard to Mini-Bikes, are occuring on the playgrounds, and children are being endangered. One youngster in Wilmington, in the past few weeks, was fined $100 in court, for violation of mini-bike laws (his father paid the fine). The arrest was by a state trooper.

Parents should realize the seriousness of the situation. When these vehicles endanger others, the parents are involved.

While there are many places in which these violations are being a matter of daily occurence, the Glen Road School playground, in Wilmington is one of the worst sites. Many violations are taking place there. It is quite possible more parents may be fined, in court.

The number one point to remember is that all mini-bikes, except those kept entirely on the property of the owner, must be registered, either as a motor vehicle (impossible for a mini-bike) or as a recreation vehicle.

Point number two is that children under 14, operating a recreation vehicle must be accompanied by an adult.

It is expected that there will be 75,000 mini-bike injuries this year, in the United States, many of which will be fatal.

Host families in the area are needed to provide temporary homes for members of the Troopers. Their ages range from fourteen to twenty and many of them will be visiting Tewksbury and the surrounding communities for the first time.

The Troopers will be here to participate in the Drum Corps International Competition to be held in Cawley Stadium, August 11th.

Anyone interested in becoming a Trooper "foster parent" for a couple of days in August, is asked to contact Mrs. John Dulong at 851-3215 for further details.

A CENTURY AGO

J. F. Gilman was an artist who became a New England mystery

A CHARCOAL DRAWING: By J.F. Gilman, and dated 1871. It was probably made for William E. Gowing, and once was the property of the Durkee family of Wilmington.
The scene is on Andover Street in Wilmington, looking south. At left is the barn which Mr. Gowing used for a butcher shop, and at right is his home, today the home of Arthur Jensen.
Notice the butcher wagon, in front of the barn. They were typical, in Wilmington, 100 years ago.

It was 10 or 12 years ago that the writer received a letter from a lady in Vermont, asking if he knew anything about J.F. Gilman. Mr. Gilman, she said, was an artist who worked in charcoal, and who lived and traveled in New England in the middle and late 1870's.

Regretfully, the letter was never answered. The writer knew nothing of Mr. Gilman. Regretfully, too, the letter has disappeared. The writer knows not the name of the lady who mailed it.

For, it later turned out, there was a man in Wilmington in 1871 who was an artist, using charcoal, and whose name was J.F. Gilman. It is possible that his family lived in Wilmington.

Some time after that letter was received there were, in Wilmington, a series of incendiary fires, totalling over two dozen in several years. One of the fires involved a barn on Andover Street, belonging to the Jensen family. It was a substantial structure, well constructed and well kept. The fire was started at about 11 pm on Sept. 5, 1967, and the barn was a total loss.

After the fire it was learned that Mr. Jensen had a couple of charcoal drawings of his farm, dating back to 1871, which had belonged to the Durkee family in Wilmington. The drawings were large ones, with two views of the farm, from Andover Street, one looking northerly and one looking southerly. The name of the artist was J.F. Gilman.

In the drawing looking northward one could see a train, on the tracks of the Salem and Lowell Railroad, an engine with two passenger cars. Those tracks have long since disappeared, but the right of way is still to be seen, and part of it has become Ainsworth Road - Wilmington's "non-kosher" street.

The William E. Gowing farm, now the property of Arthur Jensen, was a substantial place. The barn was used as a butcher shop, where cattle were killed and butchered for sale in the Boston suburbs, and Lynn.

Wilmington, 100 years ago, had a lively business in being the butcher shop of the Boston suburbs. Half a dozen farms along Woburn Street were in the business, and as many as 20 or 30 wagons would load up at those farms each morning, and be driven to the Boston suburbs to retail beef and other meats.

Mr. Gowing, in addition, had a business in Lawrence. His partner was a man named Armour. Armour wanted the firm to move out to Chicago, where, the future of the business of butchering was to be. The firm broke up, because Gowing wanted to stay in Wilmington.

Armour went out west, and the firm he founded in Chicago is today one of the world's largest - Armour & Co.

William Gowing, after he finally retired, lived in the old Ford - Blanchard farm, on Salem Street, later the property of Caleb Harriman, and today the property of John Brooks.

There was, in 1876, in Wilmington, a man living at the corner of Clark Street, on Main Street, named J.R. Gilman. The home is today the property of Elmer Branscomb.

The Town Crier does not know much about Mr. Gilman, other than that perhaps he had also lived in Woburn, before coming to Wilmington. There is nothing in the town records about the family, other than a widow by the name of Ruth (Russell) Gilman died in Wilmington in 1878 and she was 85 years old.

There are two or three facts, on which to start. There was a Gilman family, and J.F. Gilman, the artist, was in Wilmington.

Was J.F. Gilman a young man, just about to make his start in life, or was he older?

Who drew the picture in 1851, of the steam locomotive test on the Boston & Lowell Railroad in Wilmington, the picture which was published in Gleason's Pictorial in 1851, and then much later in the Town Crier? There seems to have been no signature to that picture, but was it drawn by J.F. Gilman, or possibly someone else in his family?

Was the J.R. Gilman who lived on Main Street the same person as J.F. Gilman? Did someone transpose the middle letter in his name, by accident, making an F into an R?

Or maybe J.R. Gilman was the father of, or a brother or other relative to J.F. Gilman?

The Town Crier joins the lady in Vermont in asking: Who was J.F. Gilman?

A TINTYPE OF THE GOWING BARN: Shown on this page in the charcoal drawing. It is the property of Eddie Sargent of Woburn Street.
The similarity is most striking, with the two chimneys and the cupola. In the tintype photo the butcher wagon is backed up to the barn, and a man (William E. Gowing?) is standing at right.
It can also be noted that there are white curtains in one of the windows - the one under the nearest chimney. This was the office of the butcher business, and was occupied during business hours by a young lady who was bookkeeper to Mr. Gowing.

IS THIS THE WORK OF J. F. GILMAN? Or possibly of a relative of J.F. Gilman? There is no way to tell today, but this picture was drawn and appeared in Gleason's Pictorial in 1851, and is a scene of a then locomotive test, on the old Boston & Lowell Railroad, in Wilmington.
The modern viewpoint is from Weinberg's Parking Lot, on Main Street and looking across Main Street. The man with the top hat, driving a fast cart, is on Main Street. The building in the background, which is still in existance, is in this picture located near where the Nashua Division tracks are joined by those of the Lawrence Branch - popularly called in Wilmington the Wildcat RR.

AT CAMP MERRYMEETING: Girl Scout in Andover. The Merrimack River Girl Scout Council's Day Camp program started on July 2 and will continue for five weeks, Monday thru Thursday.
The ladies are Mrs. Jean Foley, assistant camp director; Mrs. Chester Stanhope, camp director; and Mrs. Albert Tobey, camp nures. They are a part of the staff of 25 persons.
Swimming, crafts, nature and archery are some of the special programs being offered to the girls.

Letters

Dear Mr. Neilson:

Could you please tell me if there is a 4-H Club in Wilmington and how to join. If there isn't could you tell me of a town near Wilmington that will let Wilmington residents join?

Thank you,
Ann Flaherty

(There are several 4-H Clubs in Tewksbury. Liborio Salamone, an active leader there could give you the information you seek. You may call Mr. Salamone at 657-7042. Ed.)

Dear Larz:

The warrant article for an Historical Commission for Wilmington was voted at the special town meeting on June 25, so I was surprised and disappointed that the selectmen did not appoint the recent study committee as the new Historical Commission at their meeting last week. I understand that this was to be done if the town voted to have this Commission.

The Commission needs time to apply for funds and one date comine up of August 15, 1973 is very near. I do hope they will take care of these appointments at their next meeting on July 23 before it is too late.

Elizabeth Andrews
Gunderson Rd., Wilmington

Dear Larz:

I am writing this letter to let the Town Crier and the folks of good old Wilmington that I will be retiring from the U.S. Army on or about the 29th of August after completing thirty years and three months of service. I am a veteran of World War II; Korean conflict and twenty-five months in Vietnam, so it is time to give it up.

For the people who do not know me, I was raised in Wilmington and lived at 563 Main Street from the time I was two months old until I entered the Army on the third of May, 1943. I attended Walker School, Center School, Buzzell School and Wilmington High. My parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Blaisdell and are still residing at the same address.

I will be returning to Wilmington immediately after my retirement for a visit and to see about the possibility of purchasing a home there. I believe the last time I was home was in 1951 so it will be quite an experience to return and see all the changes that have taken place in the last 22 years. I hope to get around to see all of my old school buddies.

I will close this note for now until I see you all.

Sun. July 8...The WRSL opened its Second Annual One pitch Tourney for the benefit of the Kevin Nolan Scholarship Fund. It is estimated that a donation of over three hundred dollars is to be made.

In the first game of the evening, Hank Stewart's double play in the seventh inning with no outs helped to salvage a 6-5 lead as Jay-Dee edged Brewsters, 6-5. Winning hurler Dave Newhouse cracked a two run homer in the first frame with two outs to give the builders a 2-0 lead, and then two more runs in the fourth on singles by Ed Spence and Paul Elstrom upped the margin to 4-0. Brewsters picked up single runs in both the third and fifth innings, and three more in the sixth put them ahead, 5-4. Jim Hastings singled in the winning run in the sixth frame for Jay-Dee as he scored Elmstrom from second....Sonny Parker had two singles and drove in the winning run in the sixth inning as Silver Lake squeezed Compugraphic, 5-3. Sonny (Elmer) blooped a single to right in the sixth to score Ed Harrison and Mark Drugan and break a 3-3 tie. CG picked up a run in the first inning and held on to the one run margin for three innings, but two hits and an error tied it at one. Each team earned two runs apiece in the fourth and the rest is history. Elmer picked up the hurling win....Sweetheart outslugged Miceli as they hung on to a 5-4 margin for three innings to beat Jim's Club, 5-4. Ed Doherty doubled to score Tom Stack with the tying run, and Ed scored on his own double as Miceli's outfielder let the ball go buy him. Paul Currier threw 12 balls (all walks) and eight strikes (strike outs) to chalk up the win....K of C took advantage of two errors to Dave's second baseman as they beat the Dummies, 2-1. Dave's picked up their lone run in the third inning on three singles and an error. In the eighth inning, Paul MacMullen reached first base on a fielder's choice. He then went to second on an errant throw and home on the return throw. K of C's battery combination of pitcher Jim Hachey and catcher Dave Orndorff posted all of the hits for the Knights. Jim with a triple and Dave had two base hits....A total of seventeen walks apiece to Tabby and Napa saw a relatively calm night turn into a circus which drew more laughs from 30 some odd spectators than the Ringling Brothers could draw from 3,000. The fiasco ended in a score of 22-17, one which even the Patriots could not match. Mike Carter tripled to score Luccian with the game winning run in the seven run sixth inning. An interesting note is that these two teams were rained out twice in regular season action, and if the score was like this with one pitch, a computer will be needed to score the meeting of the two "cellar dwellers" in a regulation game.

Mon. July 9...McNamara played excellent ball all around, making only one error and slicing ten hits, as they ousted Polychemical, 11-2. Each team chalked up two runs in the first inning and the game remained 2-2 until the fourth. Bob Cassello walked with the bases loaded to drive in the winning run, and a three bases loaded triple by Jim Ritchie put the score at 7-2....Smithcraft rallied for four runs in the fifth inning to knock off Soderholm's 4-1 lead and put themselves on top of a 5-4 score. A combination of two singles and four walks gave Smithy the lead, and a two run triple by Ed Landry drove in the winning run for Smithcraft. Paul O'Donnell allowed three hits to Soderholm in picking up the win, but five walks is what hurt hin...In the opening game of the second round, Silver Lake Pharmacy ousted Jay-Dee, 10-6. Sonny Parker went two for four with a single and a triple on route to his second tourney triumph on the mound. Losing pitcher Dave Newhouse handled a hot bat also as he went two for four with a three run homer and a single. In the second frame where Silver Lake picked up five runs, George Pratt singled to score Dennis DeMaggio with the game winning run.

WILMINGTON PLAYGROUND NEWS

Baseball tickets

Red Sox tickets are available on a reservation basis for Tuesday evening, July 17 with Chicago and on Friday evening, August 10 for a tilt against California.

Tickets for Wilmington teens may be picked up at the Recreation Office in the Mildred Rogers School, Monday through Friday, 9 am to 5 pm.

The trip will cost $4.00 per person including bus fare. Buses will leave the high school parking lot at 6 pm.

Second annual soap box derby

The Wilmington Rec. Dept. will host its second annual soap box derby on Thursday, July 19th at 1 pm on School Street next to the Buzzell and Swain Schools. This year the derby will be sponsored by the Wilmington Police Association who will assist in starting and judging the races. The Wilmington Police Association will also distribute free ice cream to all the youngsters and interested parents who attend this special event.

The derby this year will again have three divisions for both boys and girls. The age groups are: 6 - 8, 9 - 10, and 11 - 12.

Last year between three and four hundred children and parents enjoyed the races and the free ice cream.

Boutwell

The highlight of the past week was the family night cookout on Monday, July 9th which was attended by over 50 people. An exciting three inning kickball game was enjoyed with Mr. Melanson and Mr. Strob as captains. Amid the expert players were Mrs. Boudreau (who made it all the way home to learn she had been tagged out at first), Mr. Melanson's team won 8-6. The evening ended with a chaotic tug of war with Dennis Murphy's team losing in spite of help from muscleman Tim Strob. The evenings only casualties were a few burned marshmallows.

Jim Mitrano leads the whiffle ball league with eight homers. Tom Stewart, George Boudreau and Brian York are tied for second place, belting out six round trippers apiece. Steve Walsh is swinging a mean bat in the league too. On the point board, Jamie Boudreau leads the boys with 15, his brother George and Paul Lawler have 10 points each. For the girls, Robin Strob, Linda Vengren and Terry Dickenson have a three-way tie at 15 points each. It still looks as if our best prospect for the Olympics is fleet-footed eight year old Suzanne Lawler, who can outrun almost everyone on the playground.

With Robin Strob, Linda Vengren, Amy Brown and some new girls, it looks as if the girls softball team might have a chance this year too.

Coming events include: Pool day on Wed., July 18th; Soap Box Derby on Thurs. July 19th and Arts, Crafts and Drama on July 20th.

Shawsheen

On Thursday, Arts and Crafts were enjoyed and all sorts of animals were created. A large bingo game was enjoyed for it was slightly wet outside. Friday softball, hockey and a water fight were conducted. On Monday practice for the big softball game against the high school was carried on; Tuesday the games against the high school at the Shawsheen.

A trip to Long Beach will be enjoyed on the 20th and the cook out is coming up shortly.

Woburn Street

In whiffleball action, the strong fielding of Jim Logan, Golden-Glove Bob Jackson and Dave Sousa led the big Red Machine over the Woburn A's 6 - 0. In the nightcap, strong pitching by Tom Sughrue and the batting support from Chris, Scott Nolan and finally the slick fielding of Ray and Al Cappadano produced a 9-8 victory for the A's.

In street hockey action, the Woburn Bruins defeated the Woburn Rangers, 6-5. Jim Nolan and Brian Sughrue pumped in all the Bruins goals while Bob Williams was strong in the nets for the mighty Bruins.

A trip to Long Beach will be enjoyed on July 25th.

Glen Road

On Monday in the ninety degree heat, some 80 youngsters dressed in red, white and blue could be seen participating in Patriots Day Festivities. Some 30 contests were held, including bubble gum blowing, grain sack races, three legged races, water balloon throwing contests, bike races and a treasure hunt. The hampions of the water balloon contest were Dan Marshall and Mike Reynolds, while at the bubble gum, Linda Storey chewed the prize. Many clues led the children through the Glen Road area only to find the buried treasure of candy in the tennis court sand pile.

TEWKSBURY SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Mon. July 2...Baldwin's topped the Arrows, 5-2 behind the three hit pitching of Bill Sharkey and the home run hitting of Bob Ferrante. Jack Foster took the loss for the Arrows. Robin Outridge belted a pair of homers, while driving in seven runs to lead Lynch's to a 15-4 triumph over Wang. Bill Zebley chipped in with three hits, including a sole round tripper. Sullivan's topped the Warriors, 7-4 as Bill Sheehy, Roger Damphouse, Jim Sullivan, and Jerry Peterson slammed out a pair of hits each to back up the pitching of Nick Andronokos.

TEWKSBURY TO HOST STATE TOURNEY

Tewksbury Softball Commissioner, Bob Dziadosz has announced the 1973 state qualifying semi-fast pitch tourney will again be held at the Livingston St. diamond.

The tourney will begin Friday July 20, and end Sunday July 29. It will be a single elimination event with a $25 entrance fee. Last year, nineteen teams competed, including six from Wilmington and six from Tewksbury.

Jay-Dees of Wilmington emerged victorious. Tourney officials expect upwards of 25 teams to enter this year. Teams must be registered by the American Softball Association (A.S.A.).

Any team interested in entering the tourney should contact Bob Dziadosz at 851-3369 or area commissioner, Dick Kopycinski at 458-6493, prior to July 14.

NORTHEAST BASEBALL LEAGUE

Dracut blanked the Recs Monday evening at the High School Field behind the pitching of Rick Harvey, who whiffed 16 Wilmington batters, while allowing only a single to Brian Phillips. Barry Foster (1-3) was the hard luck loser as his team mates committed ten errors, which led to all four Dracut runs. In other league action Chelmsford edged Tewksbury, 5-4 pushing across a pair of runs in the last frame. Albie Palma took the loss for the Redmen.

SUBURBAN PONY LEAGUE

Thu. June 28...The Mavericks played very poor defensively and as a result suffered their fifth seasonal loss to the Falcons, 9-5. Jim Stewart (1-2) pitched a fairly good ball game, allowing only five hits, but issuing 10 base on balls coupled with seven Maverick errors led to eight unearned runs. The Mavs left nine runners stranded in the game as they could only muster three singles.

Falcons	420 000 3-9
Mavericks	301 001 0-5

Wed. July 4...In the annual intertown match the Wildcats edged the Mavericks, 6-5 as Bob Aprile came in with the tying run on base with only one out to preserve Charlie Sullivan's (4-1) fourth seasonal mound win. Mark Blaisdell led the Wildcats with three hits, including a double and triple to drive in four runs. Bob Dorval, Dan Burns and Dan Hurley chipped with a hit apiece to aid the offensive attack.

Jim Stewart (1-3) took the loss, while again having control problems, walking 10 while striking out six. Stewart chipped in with an rbi single, while Tony Gravelese, Jim Sugrue, Bob Sferrazza, Randy Foster and Jim Tucker had a hit apiece.

Wildcats	010 002 3-6
Mavericks	011 000 3-5

Sat. July 7...The Wildcats moved into first place in the West Division with a 6-4 triumph over the Ravens behind the stout pitching of Charlie Sullivan (5-1). The Wildcats jumped out to a 3-0 first inning lead when the Stoneham catcher attempted to pick a runner off first with the bases loaded and two outs. The errant throw sailed into right field and all three runners scored. The defense let down in the fifth making four errors to make the game close as the Wilmington club led 6-1 entering the fifth frame. Sullivan struck out nine and walked three in his fourth route going performance. Offensively Sully went two for three, while Dan Hurley, Dan Burns, Mark Blaisdell and Bob Dorval chipped in with a single each.

Ravens	000 130 0-4
Wildcats	303 000 x-6

HOCKEY HIGHLIGHTS

The very busy Barons

One of the Squirt Hockey teams which has been playing at the Wilmington Youth Ice Arena is the Barons, Joe Murphy coach. It has had a very busy schedule, playing a total of 34 games, and it has had some very busy players, one of them being Danny Marshall of Hobson Avenue, who has scored an impressive 63 goals.

In addition to the regular 21 game Intramural League Schedule, in the Squirt Division, the Barons played an additional 13 games, against teams from Tewksbury, Chelmsford, Haverhill, Groveland and Wilmington. Members of the team include Steve Bailey, Bobby Clinch, Paul Crowell, Bob DiGirolamo, Steve Dineen, Caroll Gillespie, Bobby Jennings, Andy Leverone, Steve Lopez, Dave McNee, Danny Marshall, Billy Merrill, Paul Mirisola, Joe Murphy and Jack Pittman.

Danny Marshall scored, as reported above, 63 goals in 31 games. This better than a two per game average. He was also a goal tender in two of the Baron's games, registering a shutout. He registered 11 "hat tricks" during the season. He also scored six goals in one game. Danny can truly be called the High Scoring Squirt of the 1972-73 season, in Wilmington Intramural Youth Hockey.

The Barons received outstanding goal tending from Andy Leverone, and strong defensive support from a unit made up of Steve Bailey, Bob DiGirolamo, Steve Dineen and Paul Mirisola.

Five additional players were added to the roster of the Barons for their non-league encounters, and all contributed heavily to the success of the independent game schedule. The boys included Bobby Doucette, goalie; Jamie Boudreau, Scott Peters and Joey Tkachuk, forwards; and Keith MacDonald, defense.

Other members of the Barons who contributed to the team's scoring included Steve Bailey, 12 goals; Joe Murphy, 8 goals; and Caroll Gillespie, 5 goals.

Mite A's (10-2-1): The Mighty Mites waited since their first game to seek retaliation against Stoneham their only loss of the spring season. It was to no avail, however, as Stoneham marched onto the ice and did not leave until they had wrapped up the season finale and sole possession of first place winning, 5-0.

The frantic pleas and encouragements of the "Peanut Gallery" and ace K. Smith on the side lines with an injured arm could not get the Wilmington skaters intracked as Stoneham dominated most of the game. Wilmington had repeated shots on the visitors net, but were turned away by superb goal tending.

Coaches Ted Giroux and Wes Brown can be proud, however, as their new team compiled a fine 10-2-1 overall slate, good enough for the runner up spot in the league. Next fall, seasoned boys will be ready and willing to pursue the first place and should after this rewarding warm up session.

Squirt B's (5-7-0): The Squirts concluded their season with a pair of games over the weekend, losing to Burlington, 9-2 on Saturday and then bouncing back to whip Billerica, 6-2 on Sunday.

The two Wilmington scores in the Burlington loss came off the sticks of Ted Moran and George Boudreau, while on Sunday Chuck McNeil tallied a pair of markers to lead the squad to its convincing win over Billerica. Other goal getters were: Daryll MacDonal, Bob Williams, Chris Turner and Moran.

Pee Wee B's: Whipped So. Boston on June 23rd, 5-1 in their finale of the spring season. Paul Boudreau and Dennis Foley scored a pair of goals each while Bobby Greenberg tallied once to lead the offensive attack. Matt DePasquale was brilliant in the nets for Wilmington.

Studies show that even a healthy person will soon begin to feel the effects of failing to get the proper amount of rest and sleep.

If he continues to lose sleep, he will begin to lose his healthy good looks, his posture may suffer, and his disposition may change for the worse.

When a person does not sleep properly, his resistance to disease may be lowered so that he becomes more susceptible to colds and less able to throw off infection.

Mr & Mrs William E Giles

On Saturday, June 23, Linda Sue Allison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman C. Allison of 42 Swain Rd., Wilmington became the bride of William E. Giles, son of Charles L. Giles of 80 Middlesex Ave., Wilmington and Mrs. M.D. Giles of Stoneham. The late afternoon ceremony was performed by the Rev. Reger at the First Congregational Church in Stoneham.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of white sata-peau, featuring a scoop neckline and full bishop sleeves. Venise lace flowers covered the bodice and the cuffs of the sleeves. Lace appliques accented the front of the gathered skirt and a cathedar length gown fell from the skirt back. Cluny lace edged her cathedral length mantilla and Juliet cap. She carried a nosegay of white daisy poms and babies breath, centered with a single pink orchid and yellow daisy pom.

Miss Jodie Allison, of Swain Rd, Wilmington, sister of the bride served as maid of honor in a gown of printed voile featuring a high neckline, dolman sleeves and a fitted midriff waistline. Venise lace trimmed the bodice and encircled the gathered waistline. She carried a nosegay of orchid daisy poms.

Serving as bridesmaid was Miss Sandra Allison of Swain Rd., Wilmington, also a sister of the bride. She wore a gown styled identical to the one worn by the maid of honor and carried a nosegay of orchid daisy poms.

Miss Karen Hall of Sheriton Rd., Bedford acted as flower girl.

Charles Karas of Nantasket Ave., Hull served as best man while ushering duties were in charge of Russell Allison of Peterborough, N.H. and Kenneth Hall of Sheridan Rd., Bedford.

David Crehan of 53 Swain Rd., Wilmington served as ring bearer.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the First Congregational Church Hall, Stoneham.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Allison chose a hot pink floor length chiffon gown trimmed with sequins and pearls.

The new Mrs. Giles is a graduate of Wilmington High School and Bentley College. The groom is currently a student of accounting.

Following a wedding trip to Nassau, Bahamas, the couple is now residing on Princeton Blvd., Lowell.

Having a screwdriver of the right size is very important. The wrong-sized blade can slip and ruin a screw head or gouge woodwork.

Make sure that you have three or four screwdrivers of different sizes in your tool box. A thin blade in a wide screw slot will twist and break.

Remember this, too: a screwdriver should not be used for anything but driving or loosening screws or slotted bolts.

Helpful Hint: To use a Phillips screwdriver, be sure to apply even pressure during turning; otherwise, the driver may slip and ruin the screw.

Bits & Pieces

High school chemistry teachers from 19 states and two countries are involved in the tenth and final National Science Foundation Summer Institute being held at Bowling Green State University this summer.

Thirty-nine teachers from the United States, Bermuda and Canada are enrolled in the program, among them, John Krey of 54 Andover St., Wilmington, a teacher at Wilmington High School.

Successful completion of the 45-hour program, which can be accomplished in three summers, results in a master of arts degree.

Fears were expressed by members of the Finance Committee and others in Wilmington's special town meeting of June 25th, that, whenever 200 people have a problem they will call for another town meeting.

Well, It has happened.

Not in Wilmington, but in North Reading. Two hundred and four persons signed a call for a special town meeting in that town, and submitted it to the town hall. Like Wilmington, 200 is the magic number. So there will be a special town meeting - soon, if the Board of Registrars validates all the names.

The people in North Reading want the town sprayed, or something, for mosquitoes. There was an article in the warrant, in the spring, for such a service, and it was defeated.

The Town Manager (in that town the town is Town Administrator) has observed that many of the people who are calling him about mosquito control are among those who did not attend the annual Town Meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gack of Laite Rd., Wilmington have recently returned from a week's vacation in Bermuda. a sligh A slight brush with hurricane Alice did nothing to subtract from their enjoyment of the trip.

Mrs. Juan Blodgett R.N. of Jacksonville, Florida has returned home following an enjoyable three-day visit with her old school chum, Mrs. Dorothy Darling of Eames St., Wilmington.

Wilmington's Rotary Club has given Rotary Park to the Town of Wilmington, and it has been accepted by town vote. This column is not certain as to how much money was spent in filling in the former Hiller Cranberry Bog, but it is reported to be upwards of $45,000, over the years.

The interesting item is that some money was left over. In the balance sheet for June 30, 1973, the Rotary treasurer shows that the sum of $87.92 was transferred to the general fund of the Wilmington Rotary Club.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Boston will expand the geographic area in which it provides overnight check clearing service through its downtown Boston facility, to include all of eastern Massachusetts, all of Rhode Island and the three southern counties of New Hampshire, according to Frank E. Morris, president of the Reserve Bank.

The Wilmington Rec. Dept. will conduct its second annual soap box derby on Thursday, July 19th at 1 pm on School Street. The event this year is to be sponsored by the Wilmington Police Association. All interested youngsters are invited to participate.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will make its sixth visit to Burlington Mall on Tuesday, July 17 where a blood drawing station will be set up for the convenience of donors in Mall Entry Three. More than 80 pints of blood were collected at the Mall during the Bloodmobile's visit several months ago.

Among the Wilmingtonites observing birthdays about now are: Mike Coluccino of Deming Way on July 18th; Paul Farrell of Mass. Ave., Wilmington's Veteran's Agent, on July 23; Mrs. Helen Hutchins of Deming Way, also on the 23rd; Claire Dickinson of Deming Way on July 24th and Anna Maxwell of Mass. Ave., on July 25th.

Wind power can be used to help meet energy needs. A wind turbine in Denmark, with three blades 40 feet long on a 75-foot tower, has produced 400,000 kilowatt - hours of electricity yearly since 1957 when it was built. Windmills in the U.S. are used to charge storage batteries in rural farm areas where there is no utility.

Karen Ballou won Trip to Haiti

Karen Ballou, daughter of Police Officer and Mrs. Daniel Ballou of 62 Park St., Wilmington was recently selected to fly to the Republic of Haiti to represent the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in ceremonies there designed to foster closer Haitian-Americation relations.

Miss Ballou, a Senior at Bay State Junior College, majoring in Fashion Design claimed the right for this honor by winning a beauty contest sponsored nationally by the Haitian Government, and locally, by Rainbow-Travel, Inc. of Belmont. Miss Ballou defeated a large number of contestants in the preliminary rounds of the contest, and in the finals emerged victorious over a professional model and an airline stewardess.

While in Haiti, Karen and the winners from other parts of the country were the guests of the Government of Haiti and participated in numerous functions designed to provide Americans with a better understanding of the island Republic.

Included in the activities was the Presidential Ball, hosted by the Honorable Francois Duvalier, President of Haiti. For the ball, Karen was designated a "Princess" and as such was a member of the official presidential entourage. Sight seeing events, official receptions, a round of parties and meetings with various governmental department heads completed the busy week-long schedule.

An honor student and a member of the Dean's List at Bay State, Karen has been active in many College activities and a stand-out attraction in the Fashion Shows presented by the Fashion and Design Departments.

Karen and her mother, Mrs. Lorraine Ballou left Boston's Logan Airport late in June for New York where they were met by other American winners, and accompanied by the Haitian Ambassador to the United States, the group embarked on their trip to the Caribbean Republic.

Cain named to commission to study railroads to Wilmington

Rep. Fred F. Cain, of Wilmington has been appointed one of five state representatives to serve on a special commission to study the feasibility of extending and expanding public transportation from Boston to Wilmington, by the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority. The appointment was made on June 28th by the Speaker of the House.

The other four included Reps. Ray O'Rourke of Lowell, Buglione of Methuen, Guilmette of Lawrence and Cole of Lexington. The special commission was established under a Resolve, in Chapter 12 approved on April 19th.

The resolve calls for two state senators, five representatives, the general manager of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority or his designee, and three persons to be appointed by the Governor to make an investigation and study relative to the feasibility of extending and expanding public transportation from Boston to the Wilmington area by the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, with particular reference to utilizing the present railroad facilities and equipment and any other matters related thereto.
